Dear Friends:

As DeKalb County residents we should all be proud of the rich history and services our county provides. As County Clerk & Recorder I am privileged to publish this annual yearbook, which describes our county governmental operations and the services available to our citizens; my hope is that it becomes a handy reference for all of our citizens and a learning tool for our students.

Discover how to contact your legislator, how to obtain vital records and information on voting. Our Forest Preserve District has over 15 different parks for you to spend an enjoyable afternoon picnicking, hiking, bird watching or taking time to smell the flowers. This book is a guide to all DeKalb County Government offices as well as other units of government within the county.

My office strives to have the most current information possible for this publication; often, however, as soon as we go to press, information changes. Please feel free to contact us if updates or corrections are needed for the next publication.

As always, my office stands ready to assist you in any way that we can. Please don't hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,

ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE

The Illinois General Assembly, now in its 101st session, is composed of a 59-member Senate and a 118-member House of Representatives. One Senator is elected from each legislative district every four-year cycle. These districts are divided into two representative districts and one representative is elected from each representative district every two-year cycle. They are responsible for passing bills into law, approving the state budget, confirming appointments to state departments and agencies, acting on federal constitutional amendments, and propose constitutional amendments for Illinois. They are also responsible for the impeachment and conviction of executive and judicial officeholders in the state.

ILLINOIS STATE SENATE

State Senators are elected for four-year terms. Every two years approximately half of the Senate is elected so that not all Senators are up for election at the same time. There is a total of 59 members in the Illinois Senate. Currently the Democrats are the majority party with 40 members and the Republicans, the minority, with 19 members.

HOW TO WRITE YOUR LEGISLATOR

Because every legislator considers a large number of bills on a wide range of subject matter, the first essential ingredient of an effective letter to a legislator is a specific reference to the particular bill which interests you. Refer to the bill by its official designation, such as H.B. 478 (for House bills) or S.B. 478 (for Senate Bills).

The second important element is a brief description of the bill's provisions which concern you, and an explanation of the effect which these provisions will have on you, your company or your employment. This informs the legislator of your interest in the bill and clarifies the practical effect of the legislation as you see it.

The third element of an effective letter is your advice to your legislator as to how, in your opinion, he or she should vote.

How to Address the Letter:

State Senator and State Representatives receive correspondence from their constituents at both their home and Springfield offices. It usually is better to address them in Springfield when the legislature is in session.

Sample Salutation for a Senator:

Senator John J. Doe
Senate Post Office
State Capitol
Springfield, Illinois 62706

Dear Senator Doe:

Sample Salutation for a Representative:

Representative John J. Doe
House Post Office
State Capitol
Springfield, Illinois 62706

Dear Representative Doe:

Congress is in session for a longer period than the Illinois General Assembly, therefore, U.S. Senators and U.S. Representatives receive most of their legislative correspondence in Washington. All you have to do is address your letter to your Congressman as shown below.

The Salutation is simply:

Dear Sir (or Madam):

The Addressing of the letter and/or envelope is:

The Honorable (full name)
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

or

The Honorable (full name)
U.S. Senate Washington, D.C. 20510

Illinois Court System

The Judiciary of Illinois is the unified court system of Illinois responsible for applying the Constitution and laws of Illinois. It consists of the Supreme Court, Appellate Court, and Circuit Courts. The Supreme Court oversees the administration of the court system.

Illinois Supreme Court

The Supreme Court of Illinois is the state supreme court and consists of seven justices including a chief justice.

The court has limited original jurisdiction and has final appellate jurisdiction. It has mandatory jurisdiction in capital cases and cases where the constitutionality of laws has been called into question and has discretionary jurisdiction from the Illinois Appellate Court.

Illinois Supreme Court Justices

Anne M. Burke, Chief Justice
Thomas L. Kilbride
Rita B. Garman
Lloyd A. Karmeier
Mary Jane Theis
P. Scott Neville, Jr.
Michael J. Burke

Illinois Appellate Court

The Illinois Appellate Court is the court of first appeal for civil and criminal cases rising in the Illinois circuit courts.

Three Illinois Appellate Court judges hear each case and the concurrence of two is necessary to render a decision. The Illinois Appellate Court will render its opinion in writing, in the form of a published opinion or an unpublished order. As of 1935, decisions of the Illinois Appellate Court became binding authority upon lower courts in Illinois.

The Illinois Appellate Court has fifty-four judges serving five districts, administratively centering around Chicago (1st District), Elgin (2nd District), Ottawa (3rd District), Springfield (4th District), and Mt. Vernon (5th District).

Civil cases appealed from the Illinois Appellate Court are heard by the Supreme Court of Illinois upon the grant of a Petition for Leave to Appeal under Illinois Supreme Court Rule 315, a Certificate of Importance under Illinois Supreme Court Rule 316, or a Petition for Appeal as a Matter of Right under Illinois Supreme Court Rule 317. The same rules apply to criminal cases.

Illinois Circuit Court

The Illinois circuit courts are trial courts of original jurisdiction. There are 24 judicial circuits in the state, each comprising one or more of Illinois' 102 counties. Six circuits comprise solely of a single county; these are Cook, Kane, Will, DuPage, Lake, and McHenry. The other 18 circuits each contain between 2 and 12 counties.

The circuit court has general jurisdiction and can decide, with few exceptions, any kind of case. The circuit court also shares jurisdiction with the Illinois Supreme Court to hear cases relating to revenue, mandamus, prohibition, and habeas corpus. However, if the Supreme Court chooses to exercise its jurisdiction over these cases, the circuit court may not decide them. The circuit court also reviews administrative decisions of certain state agencies.

DeKalb County operates under the township form of County Government; the governing body is the County Board. As the legislative element, County Board is responsible for adopting all Ordinances for the governance of DeKalb County, which laws are contained in the DeKalb County Code; establishing a budget, as well as, levying taxes, promulgating policies, rules and regulations for the management of County operations. The County is divided into Twelve Districts based on population. Members are elected to four-year terms. One member is elected in each District every two-year cycle.

However, all twenty-four members are elected at the November General Election in the second year following a decennial census. The County Board meets on the third Wednesday of each month at 7:00 p.m. Other meetings may be held when called by the Chairman or requested by at least one-third of the members. The County Board has eight standing committees, which meet regularly once each month. Each member serves on two committees. Committee appointments are made by the Chairman, with the concurrence of the County Board.

Board Members serve concurrently as Commissioners of the DeKalb County Forest Preserve District. The Commissioners' meeting is held immediately following the County Board meeting on the third Wednesday of each month. Officers include a President and a Vice-President, elected in the same manner as officers of the County Board. Traditionally, these officers are the same officers as the County Board. The President appoints seven Commissioners to serve as a standing committee. This committee meets regularly each month.

150 N. Main St., Sycamore, IL 60178
Hours: 8:00 am to 4:30 pm
(815) 895-7206
dmiller@dekalbcounty.org

The Coroner investigates all sudden, natural and violent deaths in the county, which appear to be accidental, homicidal or suicidal to determine the cause and manner of death.

At his discretion, he may summon a jury composed of six persons of legal age and conduct an inquest into the cause and manner of death. The purpose of the inquest is to present pertinent information concerning the victim's death in order for the jury to arrive at a cause and manner of death. The cause of the death is often readily apparent and obvious based on the facts, circumstances, medical evidence, and in some cases toxicology and autopsy results. The real essence of the juror's responsibility is to establish the manner of death (suicide, homicide, accident, natural or undetermined.) When a vacancy occurs in the Office of the Sheriff, the Coroner assumes the office temporarily until the vacancy is filled by appointment or election.

The DeKalb County Emergency Services & Disaster Agency was created by an ordinance passed June 16, 1976. The Agency was created to combine all Emergency Preparedness Programs including Civil Defense. By state law, E.S.D.A. is a required county department. The purpose of E.S.D.A. is to mitigate potential hazards, plan for, coordinate, respond to and aid in recovery from all disaster situations whether natural or man-made.

The DeKalb County Forest Preserve District was established in 1940 to provide recreational opportunities, to preserve and restore our natural plant and animal life for both public enjoyment, education and for the protection of our natural heritage. DeKalb County Forest Preserve sites are open to the public on a non-discriminatory basis. The Forest Preserves support native Illinois plant and wildlife ecosystems. Preserves are designed to conserve energy, protect and restore sustainable landscapes, improve habitat diversity, clean our air and water, reduce soil erosion, re-charge groundwater and help in flood control. The Forest Preserve District's partnership with the University of Illinois Extension provides environmental educational experiences for over 5,000 school children and university students annually.

DeKalb County Forest Preserves serve as small, living museums, that give us the opportunity to study and reflect on our past and plan thoughtfully for our future. Your Forest Preserves provide natural areas for all to enjoy. Please respect our preserves and do not litter, keep fires in designated areas and leash your dogs. Leave plants, wild flowers and wildlife alone so others may enjoy them also. Alcoholic beverages are prohibited in all of our preserves.

Adee's Woods: Even though it sits on a 35-foot bluff above Owens Creek, Adee's Woods is a rather moist 10-acre forested preserve. A single picnic table beckons anyone who enters the parking lot. In addition to some very large old oak trees, it contains a number of uncommon plants, especially spring flora including ferns, sedges and woodland forbs. Grazed in the distant past, but never row-crop farmed, a single trail winds south to the bluff overlooking the picturesque creek.

Afton Preserve: Afton, DeKalb County's largest forest preserve (316 acres) was acquired as a worn-out farm in 1973, and developed as a forest preserve during the 1970's and 1980's. Since 1988, about 212 acres have been converted back to native plant communities - prairies, wetlands and woodlands. The 74-acre Afton South Prairie will be home to a new wetland area bordered by prairie. The 104 acres not in native plant communities offer many park-like features: lots of mowed open green space, evergreen and hardwood tree landscapes, a playground, numerous benches, observation deck, several open-air shelters, one enclosed shelter, dozens of picnic table sites and a network of over 10 miles of hiking trails, including almost a mile of handicapped access trails. Cornell University's Ornithological Lab, a premier bird research center, recognizes Afton as a national "hot spot" for bird watching, with over 230 species observed there in the last eight years.

Chief Shabbona: Hugging the northeastern border of Shabbona Lake State Park is Chief Shabbona Forest Preserve, once home to the namesake and his Potawatomi tribe. Three enclosed shelters with wood stoves host friend and family gatherings throughout the year. From north to south, along its one mile 88-acre stretch, this preserve transforms from an Oak savanna to a Sugar Maple dominated forest. One of only a few sites in northern Illinois where the rare Oval ladies'-tresses Orchid has been observed, this gently rolling woodland also contains uncommon ferns and milkweeds, as well as a few of DeKalb County's last original Butternut trees that haven't yet succumbed to the Sirococcus virus. The increasingly uncommon Red-headed Woodpecker can be seen here on occasion. The large "crow sized" Pileated Woodpecker has been recently sighted at this preserve.

County Farm Woods: Tucked behind a shopping center along Sycamore Road, the smallest of our Forest Preserves at 9 acres, was the wooded back yard for the old County Nursing Home. With the nursing home removed, this little green oasis, now sandwiched between housing and commercial development, contains a few of DeKalb's oldest Oak trees and a "naturalized" retention pond. It can be accessed by a loop trail along the DeKalb Park District Nature Trail. Upon a visit you may catch a glimpse of urban deer who frequent the site.

The Great Western Trail: This fine trail, a favorite of bicyclists, joggers, hikers and snowmobilers connects with a system of other trails that run almost to Chicago! Only a hundred feet wide, it sits on the old Great Western Railroad right-of-way for 3.5 miles in DeKalb County beginning from the Sycamore Forest Preserve trail head and 14 miles in Kane County. But don't let its narrow character fool you, it contains some of the best prairie remnants in the county, which have been used as a seed source in many of our prairie restorations.

Hoppe Heritage Farmstead/South Branch Prairie: This 60-acre site was home to the Hoppe family for over 140 years. It is now the location of the re-located and re-constructed 1845 Miller-Ellwood log cabin, a significant historical artifact of the county's earliest settlers. The adjacent South Branch Prairie, which contains five native plant communities as well as the South Branch of the Kishwaukee River, has been recognized nationally by the Natural Resources Conservation Service as an especially high-quality wetland restoration. A number of uncommon birds that require river, marsh or grassland habitat, including Sand Hill Cranes and Bald Eagles visit the site each year.

Knute Olson, Jr.: Donated to the district by Knute Olson, Jr., this former gravel quarry site has two nice woodlands. A floodplain forest and an upland forest that have regenerated after being heavily impacted by gravel mining a few decades ago. While some spoils mounds are still visible, they are heavily vegetated now with mostly native plants. Half of the 26-acre preserve was not quarried and remains a decent upland wooded area. Along the trail, two former gravel pits are now fish ponds where turtles sun themselves on bright summer days. The Kishwaukee River runs 1/3 mile along the west edge of the site. It is a good spot for Smallmouth Bass and Pike fishing.

MacQueen: This 48-acre former Boy Scout camp still includes the dining hall lodge, three enclosed shelters with wood stoves, hiking /cross country trails and a dozen tent campsites. It is one of the most botanically rich and topographically varied forested preserves in our district. The Showy Orchis, Glade Mallow, Cancer Root, ferns, and a nice array of other uncommon plants occur in the diverse upland forest. A 100-foot bluff, too steep to walk, drops to an unusual segment of the South Branch of the Kishwaukee River – a run where the river flows across limestone bedrock and then drops over The Great Kishwaukee Falls, an eroded fracture straight across the river's bed that allows the water to crash straight over the precipice before falling six inches to the bedrock below. The state endangered Black Sandshell mussel has been found in this portion of the river and Bald Eagles nest less than a mile west, down the river.

Merritt Prairie: Jim and Helen Merritt, professors at NIU, donated this 40-acre site in 1989 and 16 more acres a few years later. This preserve is about as hilly as DeKalb County gets. There are 2.5 miles of hiking trails, but it might seem like more with all the up and down included. The old one-room Pierce Town Hall building sits near the preserve entrance. Three quarters of the preserve are still cool-season grass pasture intermingled with patches of shrubs and thin patches of prairie species that were over-seeded in the brome-grass slopes. About ten acres of planted prairie and four acres of wetland mitigation expand the native structure and diversity.

P.A. Nehring Preserve: Nestled in DeKalb's urban setting, this 28-acre preserve is about half floodplain forest. Large Oak, Maple, Basswood, Cottonwood and Elm trees persist but, just as in all of northern Illinois, the Emerald Ash borers killed all but the smallest Ash trees during the last decade. Many of their bare, forlorn branches still reach for the sky above the other trees. Despite that, there is a nice bloom of spring ground flora here, and a good 600-yard stretch of the Kishwaukee River on the west boundary. Two open, mowed picnic areas, one with an open-air shelter, allow for an enjoyable visit just a couple blocks from the hubbub of DeKalb and Sycamore commercial districts.

Potawatomi Woods: At 300 acres, this is the second largest of our county forest preserves. A playground, grass and 1/2 mile of paved trails and two open air shelters border the parking lot. An easy access canoe launch enters the river at the bridge to the adjoining Kishwaukee River State Fish and Wildlife Area. Prairie plantings and row-crop fields skirt the half-mile long paved handicapped access trail, which terminates at the sedge meadow overlook deck. The sedge meadow is the largest relatively intact prairie remnant in our preserves. Many uncommon plant species thrive there, and along with lots of other reptiles and amphibians, the rare and elusive Smooth Green Snake makes this place its home. Most of the preserve is forested floodplain, including a scenic grove of Swamp White Oak trees. Endangered mussels live in the river, and Potawatomi Woods is a destination for Smallmouth Bass fishermen. A one-mile hike will get you to a bridge across Kingsbury Creek and into the MacQueen preserve.

Prairie Oaks: No other DeKalb forest preserve has quite the unique diversity of plant communities (and therefore animal habitats, too) as the Prairie Oaks Preserve. Savanna, upland forest, wet woods, streams, marshes, seeps, upland prairie, mesic prairie, wet prairie, dry prairie, sedge meadow... about every native community that occurs in our county, except the river, is represented here. The seeps have been restored with the re-introduction of a complex set of native grasses, sedges, rushes, bulrushes and forbs that thrive in each other's company. Red-headed Woodpeckers and Otters are seen here more frequently than in any other DeKalb preserve. There are a couple miles of mowed trails, 1.5 acres of mowed picnic areas with tables, occasional benches and a 750-foot handicapped access trail to an overlook. Intensive restoration work continues at this site, with the recent addition of the 39-acre Swanson Grove area. These 2 preserves and 2 more forest preserve sites along Haines Creek in the future will make up the 2-mile Haines Creek Conservation Corridor.

Russell Woods: A forest preserve since 1942, the 126-acre Russell Woods has many valuable features. The Natural Resources Education Center houses the University of Illinois Extension Outdoor Education Programs that serve 5,000 children and adults every year in outdoor education and classroom visits. The programs make good use of the surrounding forests, prairies and river. A diverse flora occurs in both the upland forest and the low wet woodland which is sixty feet down the bluff and across the river. The river itself is a prime fishing site but is also rich in other aquatic species, especially native freshwater mussels. This site is designated a “unique aquatic resource” by the Illinois Department of Natural Resources and the Illinois Natural History Survey. The preserve has three enclosed shelters, an open-air shelter, a playground, a sledding hill, and 2 ½ miles of trails, including one that takes visitors to the adjoining Hoppe Heritage Farmstead and South Branch Prairie.

Sannauk: This preserve is situated right next to LaSalle County between the cities of Sandwich and Somonauk. Acquired as the very first forest preserve, it had been a golf course until sometime during the great depression. The woodlands, especially along Somonauk Creek, are diverse in structure and have one of the very best displays of spring flora. Skunk Cabbage, Turtlehead, Turk’s Cap Lilies and a host of other uncommon lowland plants abound. The district’s largest stand of Sycamore trees grows in Sannauk and, while not native to this region, a planting of Bald Cypress trees has persisted for several decades along the lower road. Sannauk has three enclosed and two open-air shelters, hiking trails, a playground, a sledding hill, and perhaps the most used fishing spot in the entire district – the bank of Somonauk Creek just above “Lake Holiday”.

Sycamore Forest Preserve: The former Evergreen Village Mobile Home Park was subject to flooding almost every year, often more than once. A federal FEMA grant helped acquire the property, relocate residents, remove some roads, all the mobile homes and other structures and remove a sewage treatment plant. Floodplain prairie habitat was planted in the back 30 acres and the front 30 acres feature two open-air shelters, new asphalt roads, parking, a bike trail, green space, picnic areas, hiking and cross-country ski trails, and a fishing pond. The Great Western Trail has been extended another half mile west into this new preserve and will be the new trailhead area. The East Branch Kishwaukee River flows along the preserve’s western flank.

Wilkinson-Renwick Marsh: DeKalb Forest Preserve District’s only state dedicated “Natural Area” is Wilkinson-Renwick Marsh. This preserve is one of the very few undrained, unfilled and unfarmed prairie pothole marshes in the entire Grand Prairie Region. A chunk of glacier ice took a long time to melt here which left a hole in the ground. There is an observation deck at the marsh, a quarter mile handicapped access trail to the deck, another 1/3 mile of trails and really great birdwatching.

The County Highway Department maintains 190 miles of bituminous-paved highways and 45 bridge structures in the county road system. These interconnect with over 800 miles of township roads and 141 township bridges of the nineteen townships.

The DeKalb County Engineer, under the direction of the County Board, makes improvements to and maintains the highway system. Some of these duties include maintaining the shoulders, ditches, drainage structures and pavement surfaces on county roads.

The Department also provides inspection of all county and township bridges every two years, reporting those findings to the Illinois Department of Transportation as required by Statute.

Other duties include maintaining highway and construction equipment, snow and ice removal, signing and roadside mowing. In conjunction with the County Highway Committee of the County Board, the County Engineer sets priorities for highway construction, administers the preparing and letting of contract proposals for bridge and road construction and directs the engineering staff through contract completion.

The County Engineer and his staff also provide engineering expertise and advice to township highway commissioners. Cooperation between county personnel, township highway road commissioners, state personnel, and municipal officials, along with a close adherence to road standards, provides a well-maintained highway system throughout DeKalb County.

The DeKalb County Sheriff's Office has four basic areas of service. They are the Field Operations Division which includes patrol, civil process, and electronic home monitoring; Corrections Division which is responsible for the operation of the County Jail, prisoner transport, and Court House Security; Communications Division which includes the 911 Combined Communication Center; and Investigation Division which handles most criminal and other in-depth investigations.

Property Tax Helpline (815) 895-7337

The County Treasurer has the responsibility to receive, invest and distribute the revenue and public monies of the county. This office also keeps accounts of all monies paid out stating the date, to whom payment is made, and on what account payment is made. Payments must be specifically authorized by law or by the County Board.

It is the duty of the County Treasurer to invest and reinvest any funds which are not used within 30 days. The County's money is invested in banks in, or within, close proximity to DeKalb County. Investment objectives are safety of principal, liquidity, and maximum rate of return.

Each month, the Treasurer reports to the County Board, the amounts of money invested in banks listed by account, and whether the money is in a NOW account or if the money is otherwise invested.

The County Collector prepares bills and receipts for the purpose of tax collection of real estate, drainage, and mobile home taxes within the county.

Upon receipt of the tax monies, the County Collector proceeds to disburse these funds to the more than 150 taxing districts. Tax collection funds are kept in interest-bearing accounts. The interest earned on these accounts is disbursed to the various taxing districts proportional to the amount of tax collected for them.

The County Collector holds a tax sale at the end of every tax year to sell the tax on every parcel that remains unpaid.

The Treasurer collects and distributes, as required, transfers of monies from the state. These transfers include in part; sales tax, supplemental sales tax, income tax, income tax surcharge, salary reimbursement, replacement tax, inheritance tax, emergency management assistance program monies and motor fuel tax.

The Treasurer reimburses claims for damage to animals injured or killed by dogs and also acts as the treasurer for the 911 Emergency Telephone System Board.

The Treasurer assists senior citizens in filing for Real Estate Tax Deferral.

The Treasurer reviews and grants the tax deferral to those who meet the requirements. Information pertaining to approved deferrals is then reported to the Illinois Department of Revenue.

The Treasurer maintains tax records from the year 1851 and makes them available to the public for researching historical tax data. The Treasurer also makes available County tax records and maps for use by tax searchers and other concerned parties.

The DeKalb County Drug Court: C.L.E.A.N. Program (Choosing Life and Ending Abuse Now) is a five-phase intervention program and DUI Court is a four-phase program for adults who have pled guilty to one or more non-violent felony offenses and who are having difficulty staying clean and sober. The Mental Health Court is the newest addition to the treatment courts, providing mental health treatment to individuals within the community. All DeKalb County Treatment Court Programs are a collaborative effort between the 23rd Judicial Court Circuit, State's Attorney Office, Public Defender's Office, treatment court staff, Court Services, law enforcement agencies, and treatment providers. By working together, they seek to provide a variety of programs and consistent supervision geared toward supporting and helping you maintain a drug-free life. The Treatment Courts all require frequent court appearances, random drug and alcohol testing, as well as group and individual counseling. The Court awards incentives for compliant behavior and imposes sanctions for negative behavior. Participants who do not comply with the rules may be placed in short-term custody, moved back to the previous phase of Drug/DUI Court, or a variety of other sanctions depending on the program and the time in the participant's phase.

Between 1926 and 1976 a father and son team held the office of DeKalb County Clerk. Earle Joiner from 1926-1956 and Ralph Joiner from 1956-1976. It was Ralph's dream that the old records and other memorabilia, scattered throughout the Courthouse, could find a new, permanent home.

In the early 1980's Phyllis Kelley spent 18 months cataloging and indexing the contents of the old vaults. In 1988, work began transforming 400 square feet in the basement of the Courthouse to the Joiner History Room and dedicated to Ralph Joiner, his wife Bertha and Earle Joiner for their efforts in preserving the county's historical documents. Joiner History Room opened to the public on May 4, 1989. In June 1998, the collection was transferred to space in the Sycamore Public Library building.

The organization systematically collects, preserves, maintains, promotes, and makes available archived records of enduring historical value to the public.
